

Códice Madrid

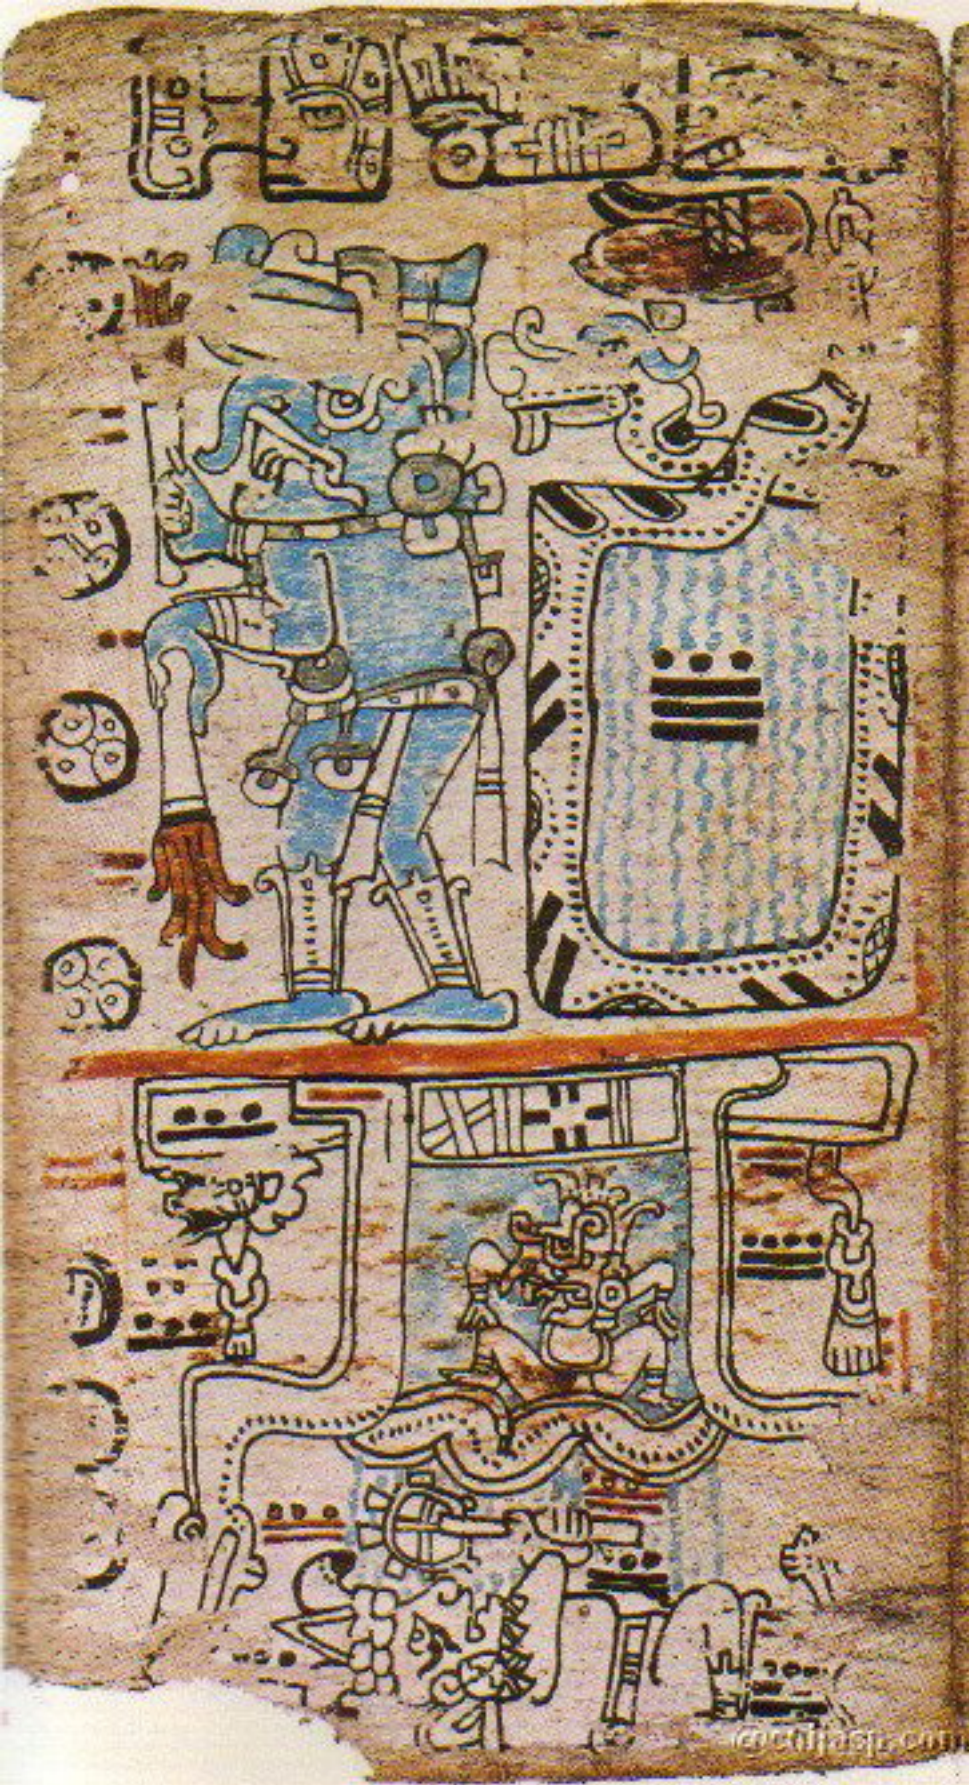

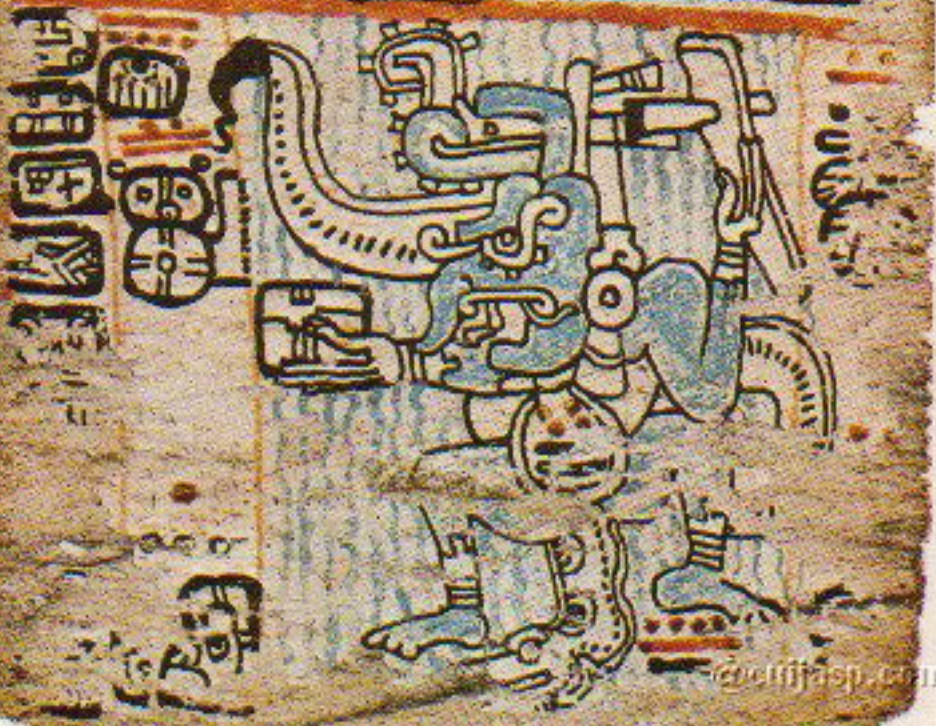

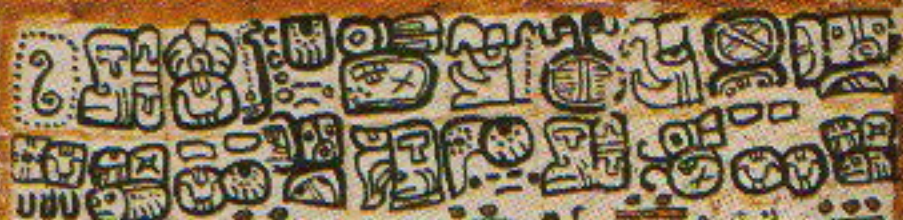

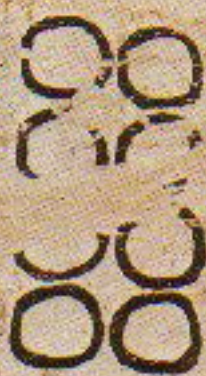

Stylized text or symbols, possibly a title or header, rendered in a decorative, blocky font.

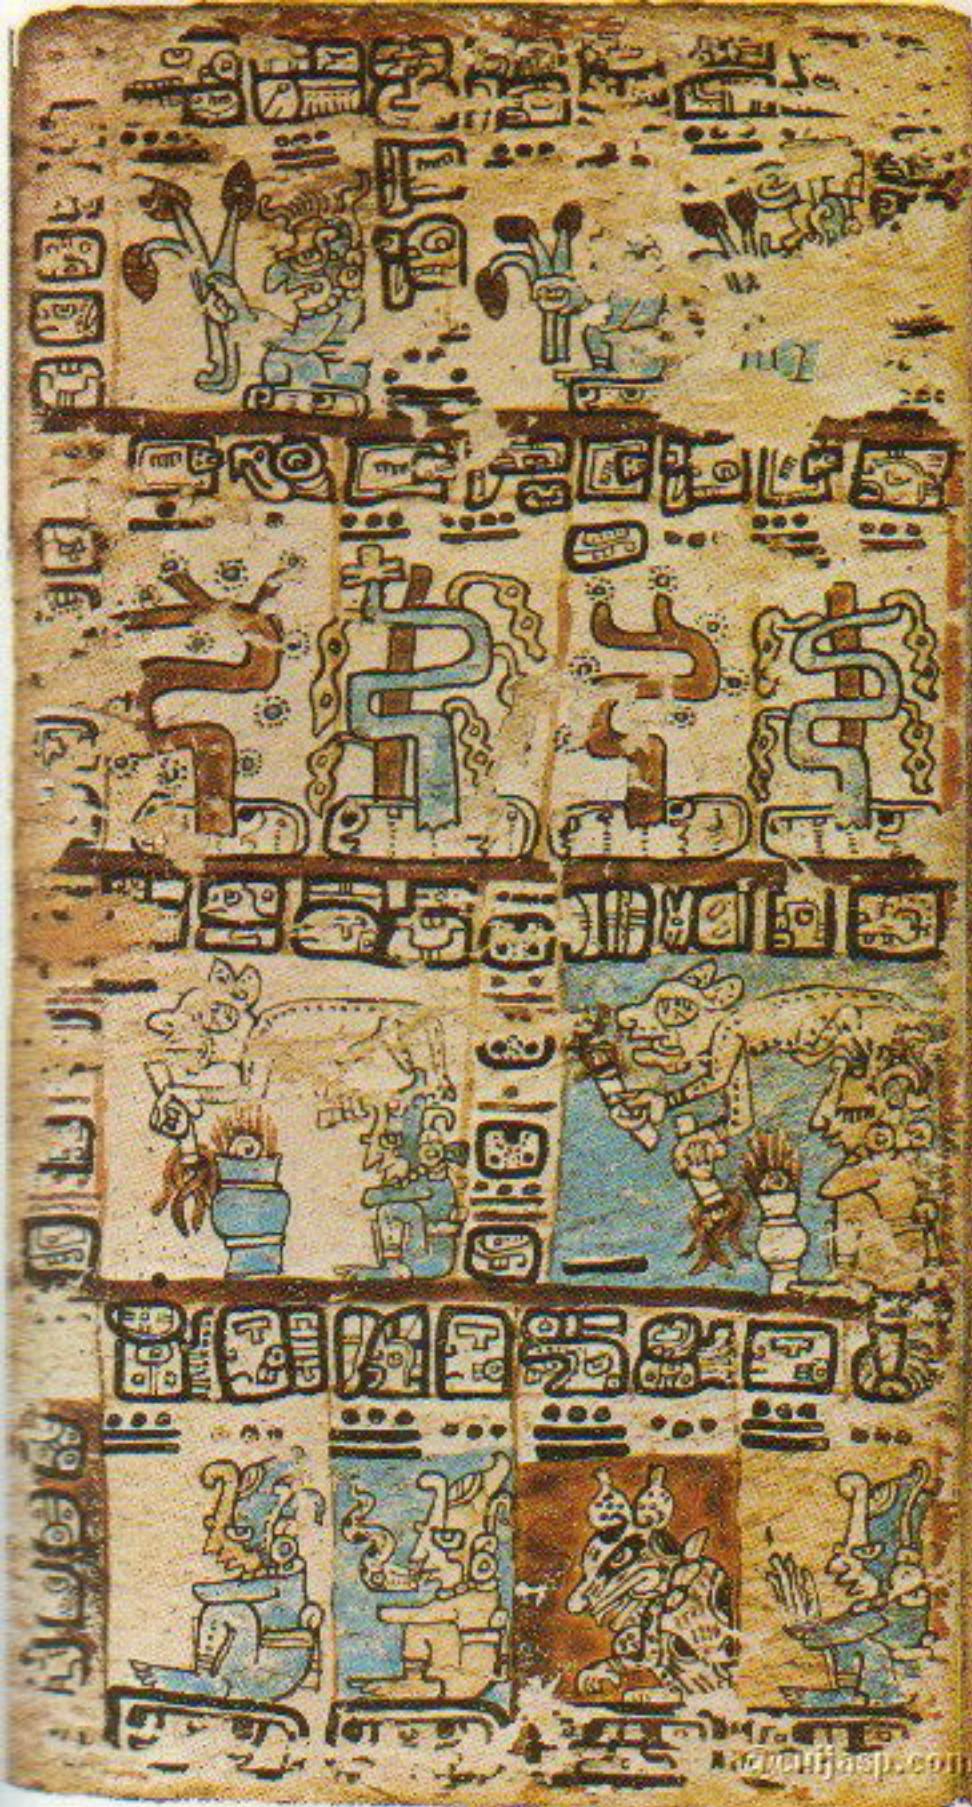

Maya script (Cibola script) at the top of the page.

Maya script (Cibola script) in the second row.

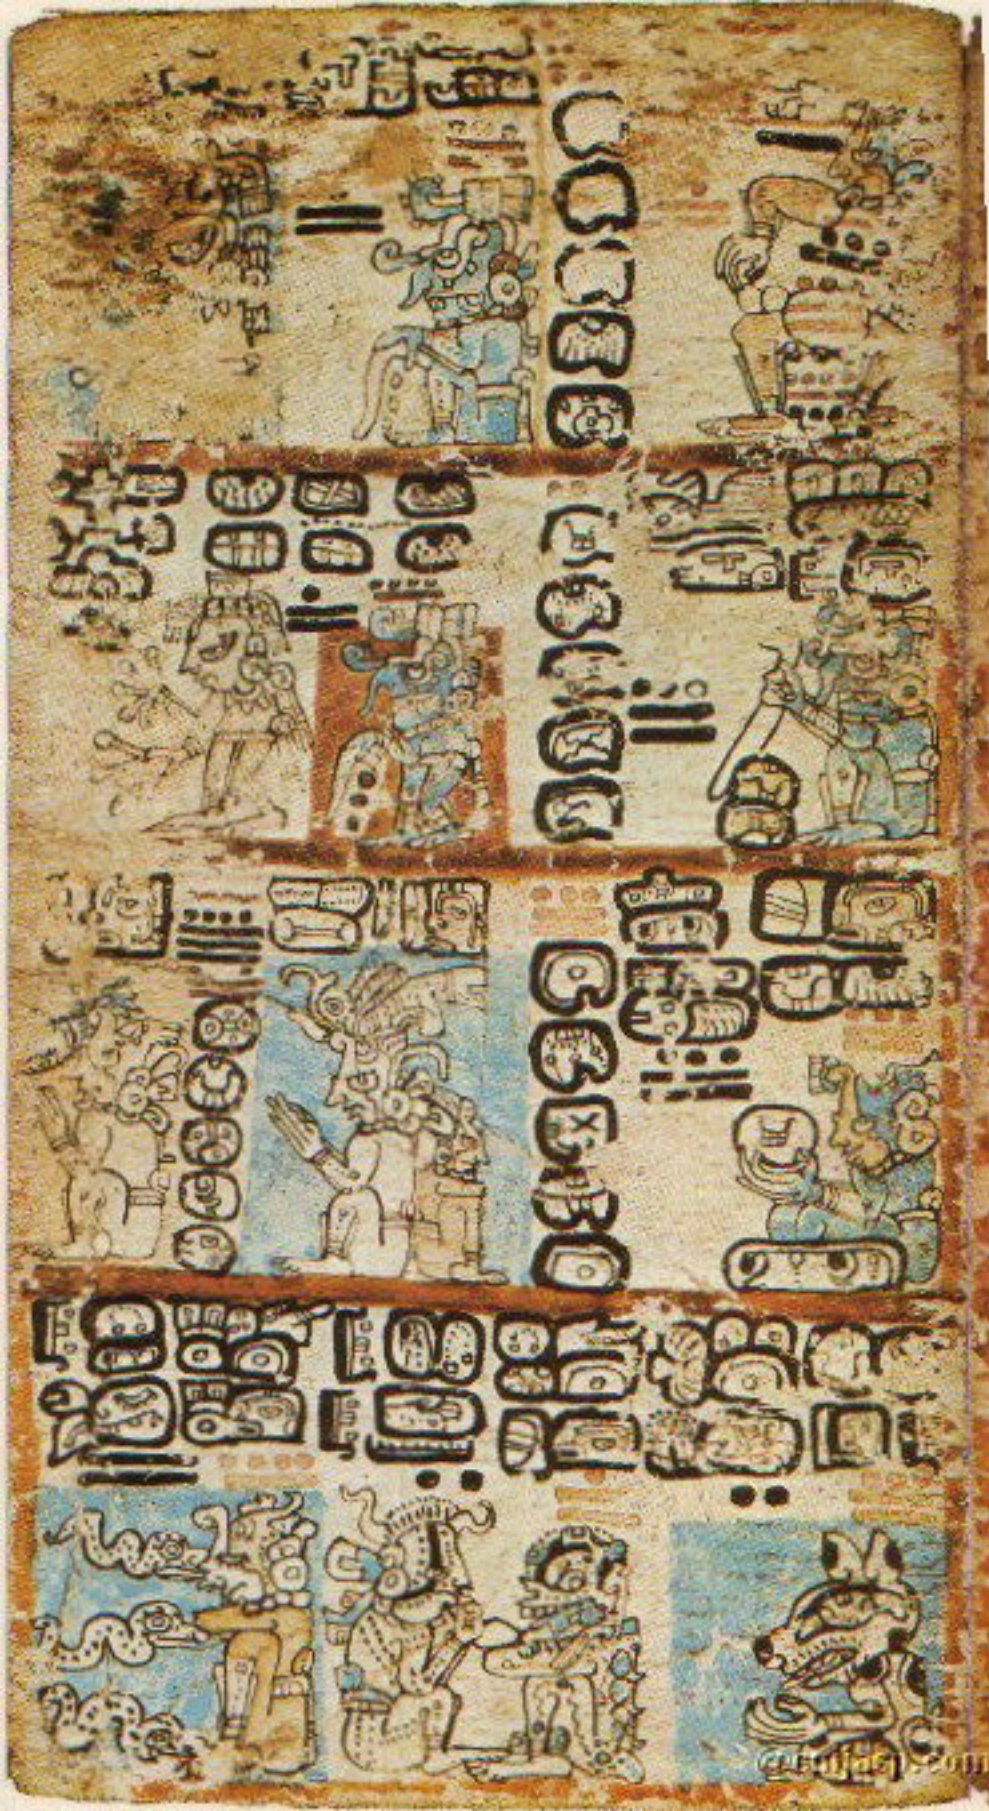

Maya script (Cibola script) in the third row.

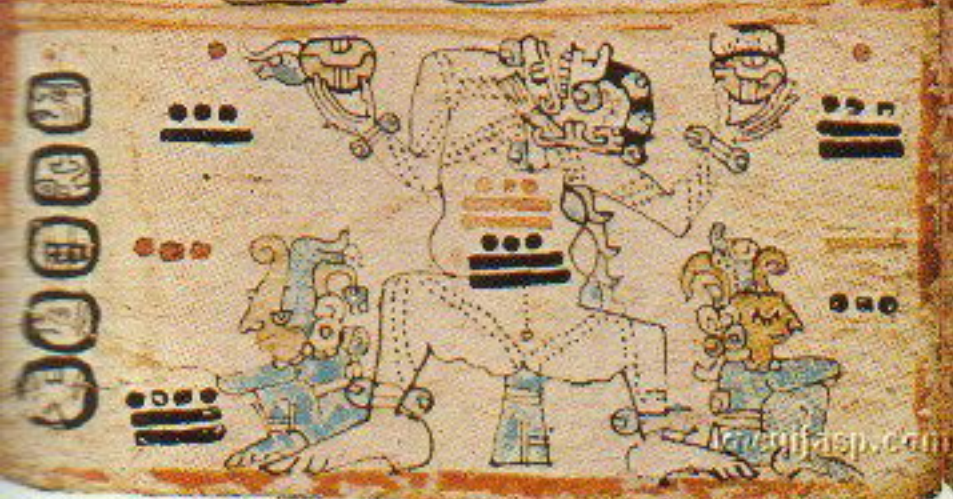

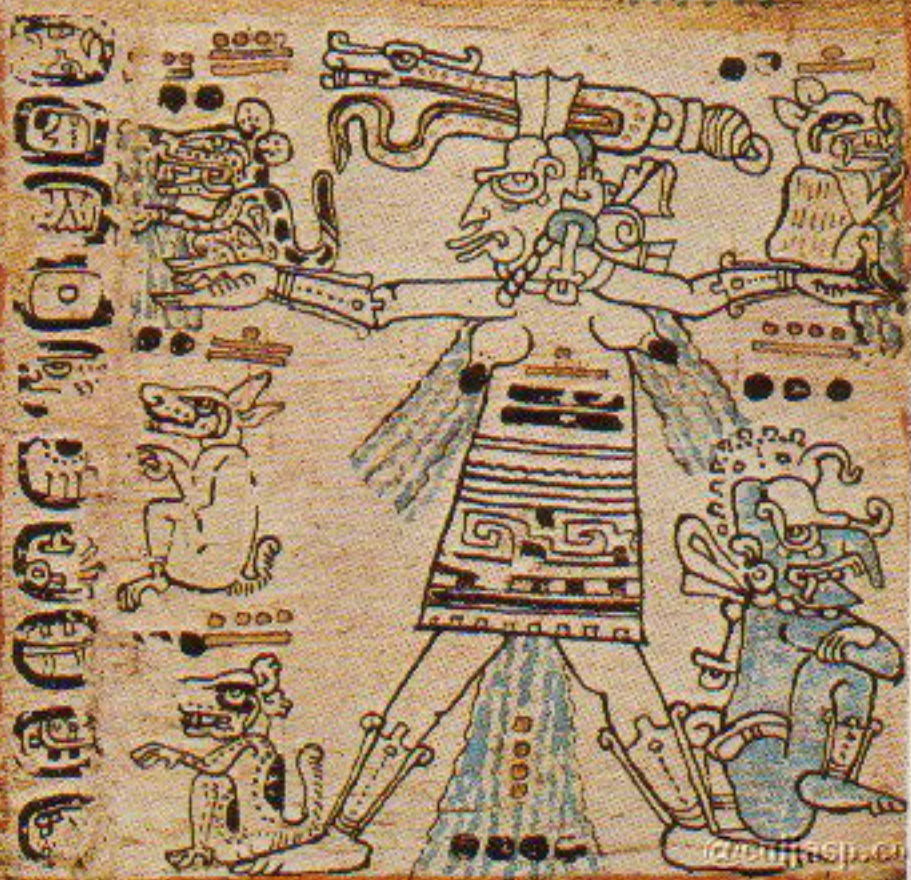

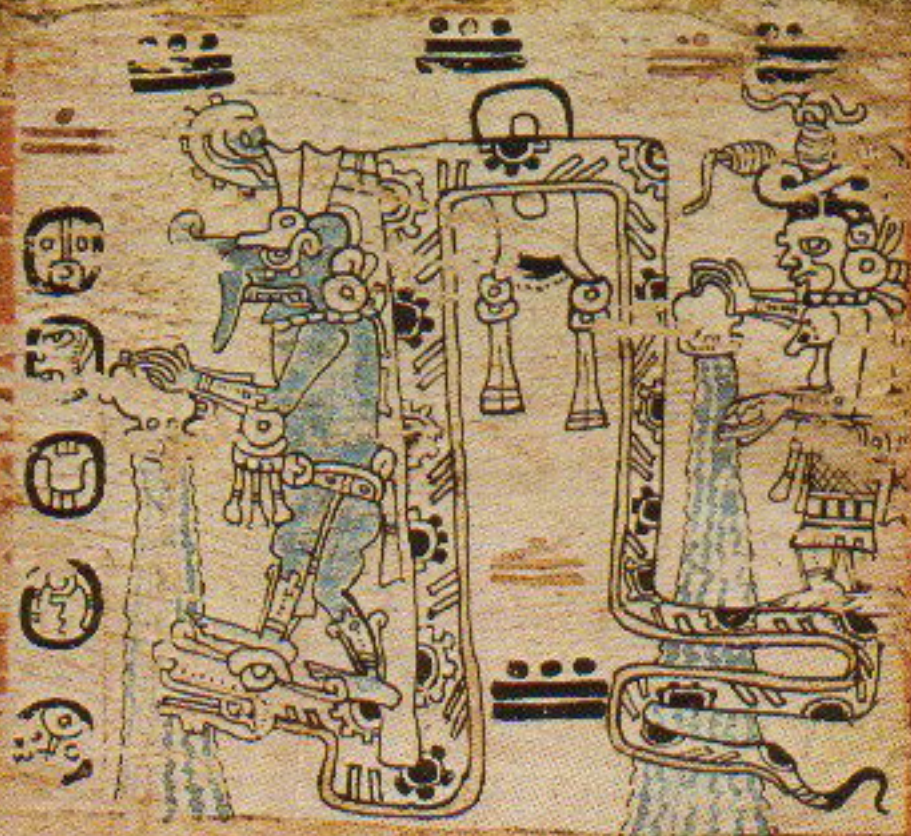

Maya script (Cibola script) in the fourth row.

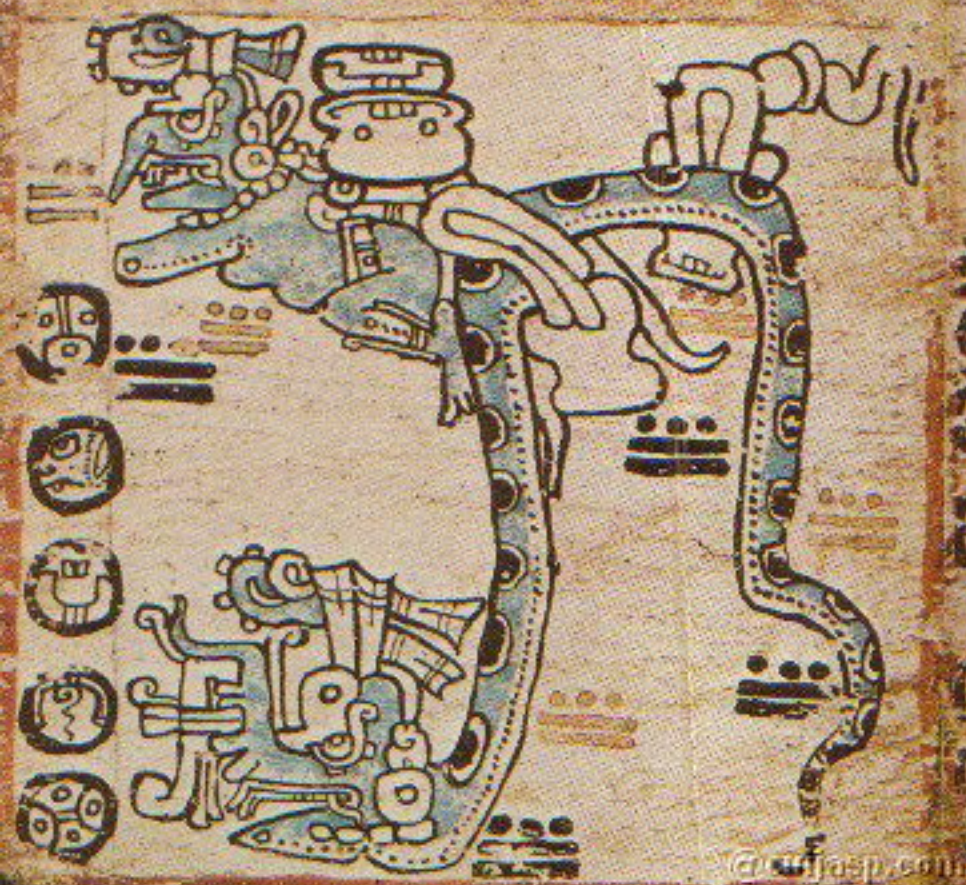

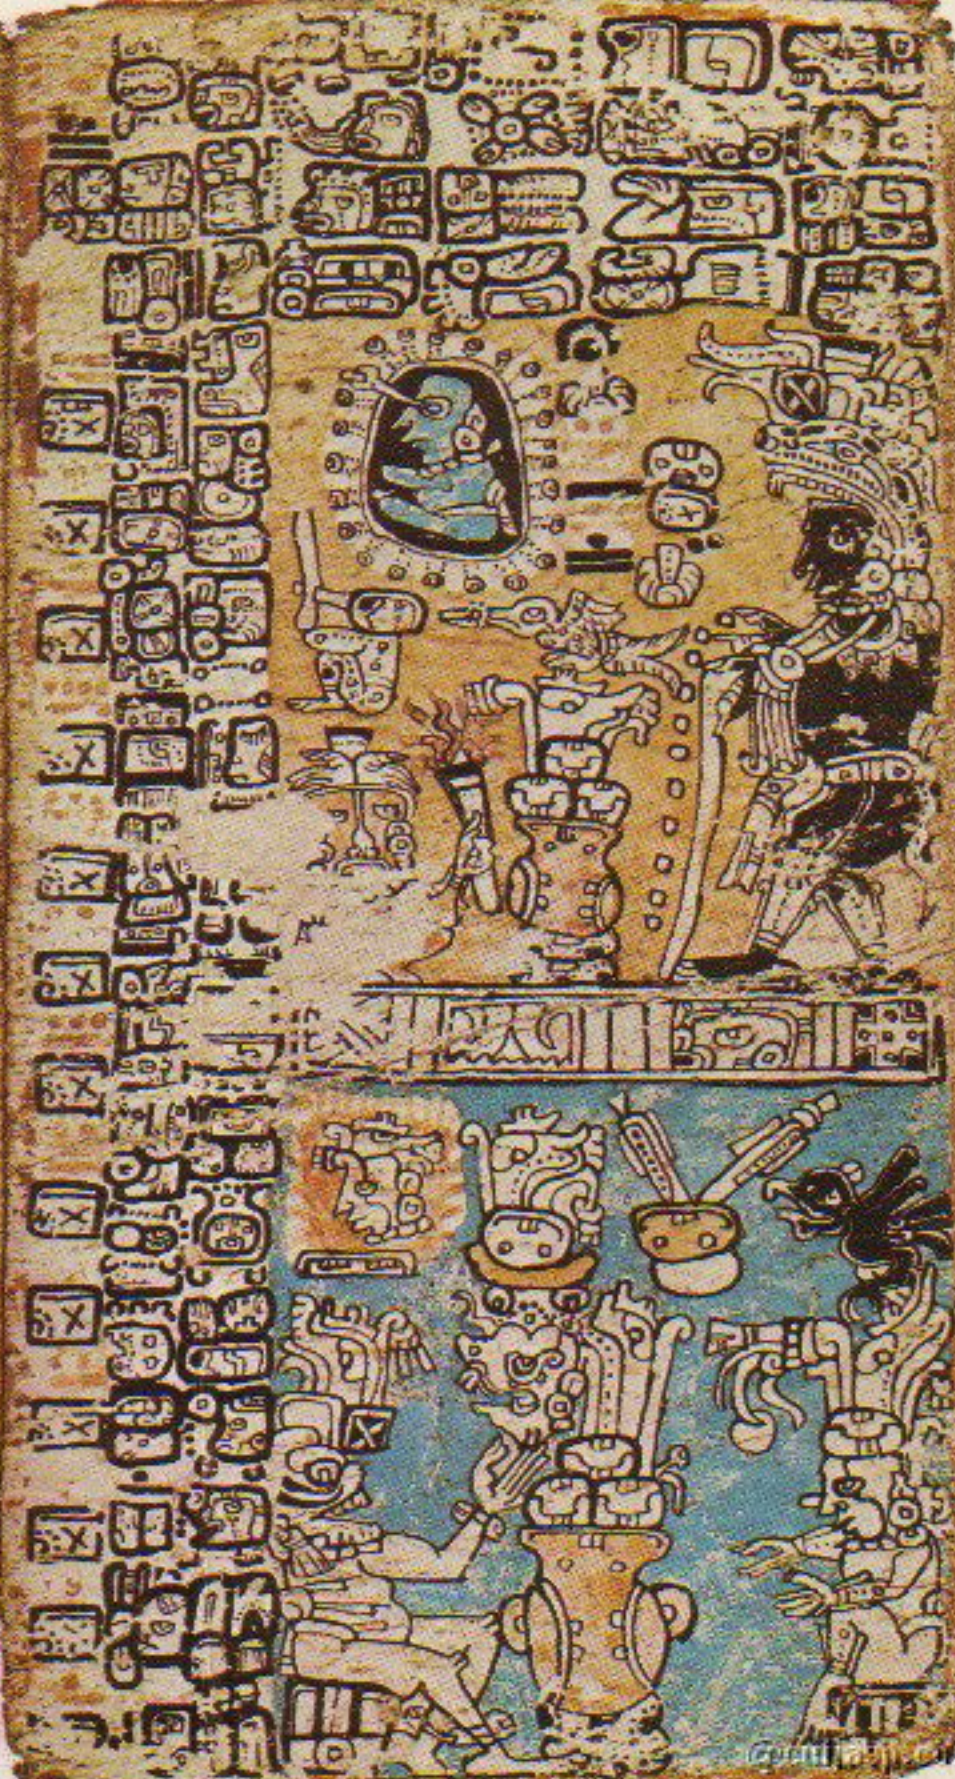

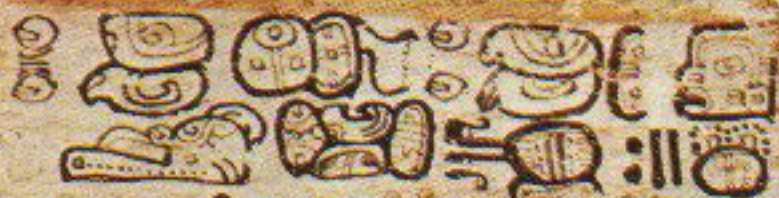

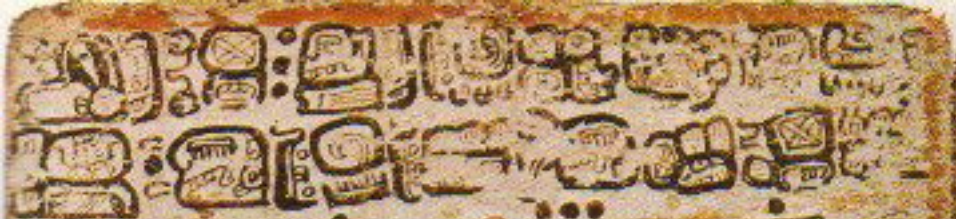

Top section of the page featuring a grid of stylized, blocky characters or symbols, likely representing a calendar or a list of events. The characters are arranged in several rows, with some larger, more prominent symbols interspersed among the smaller ones.

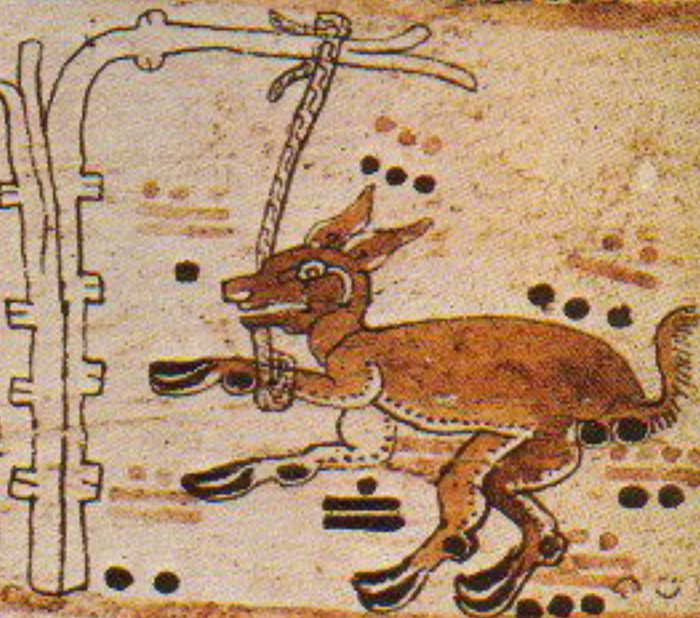

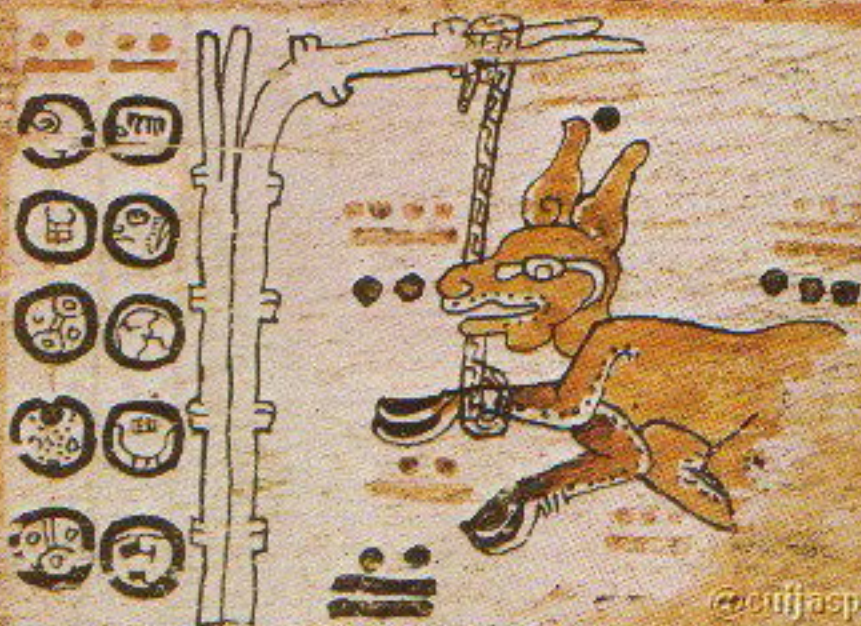

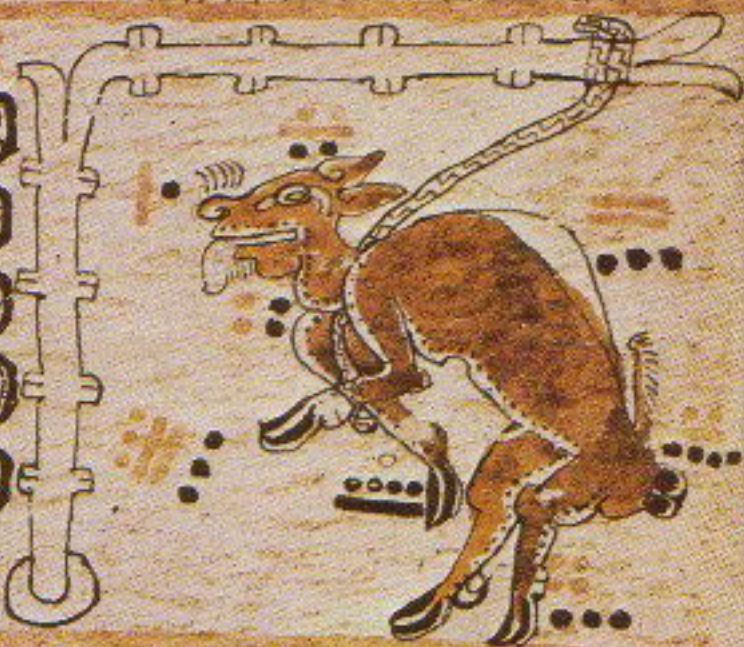

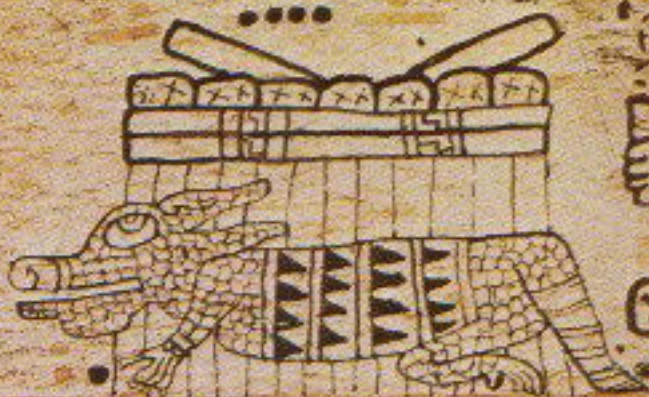

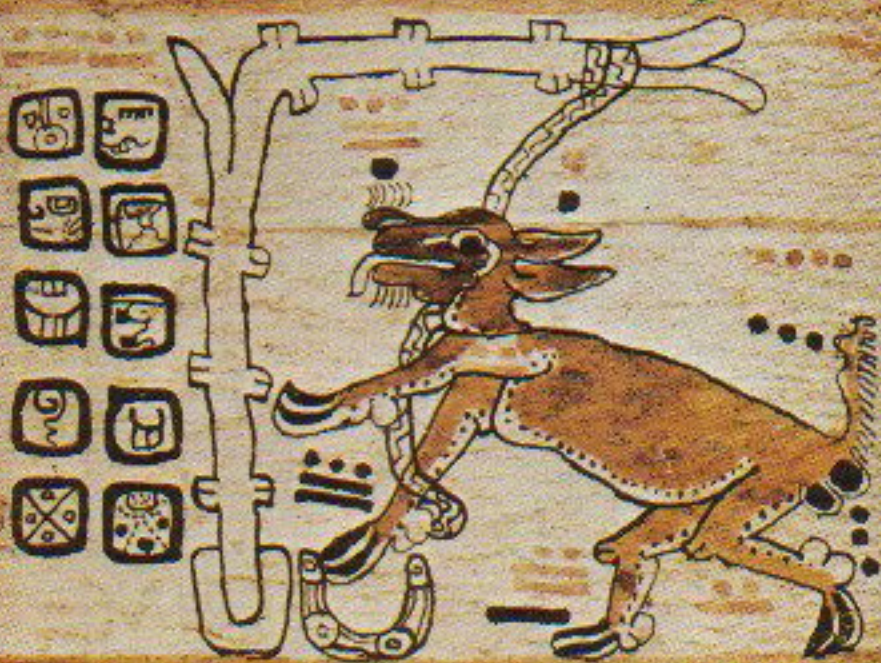

Handwritten text in a stylized script, likely a title or header, located at the top center of the page.

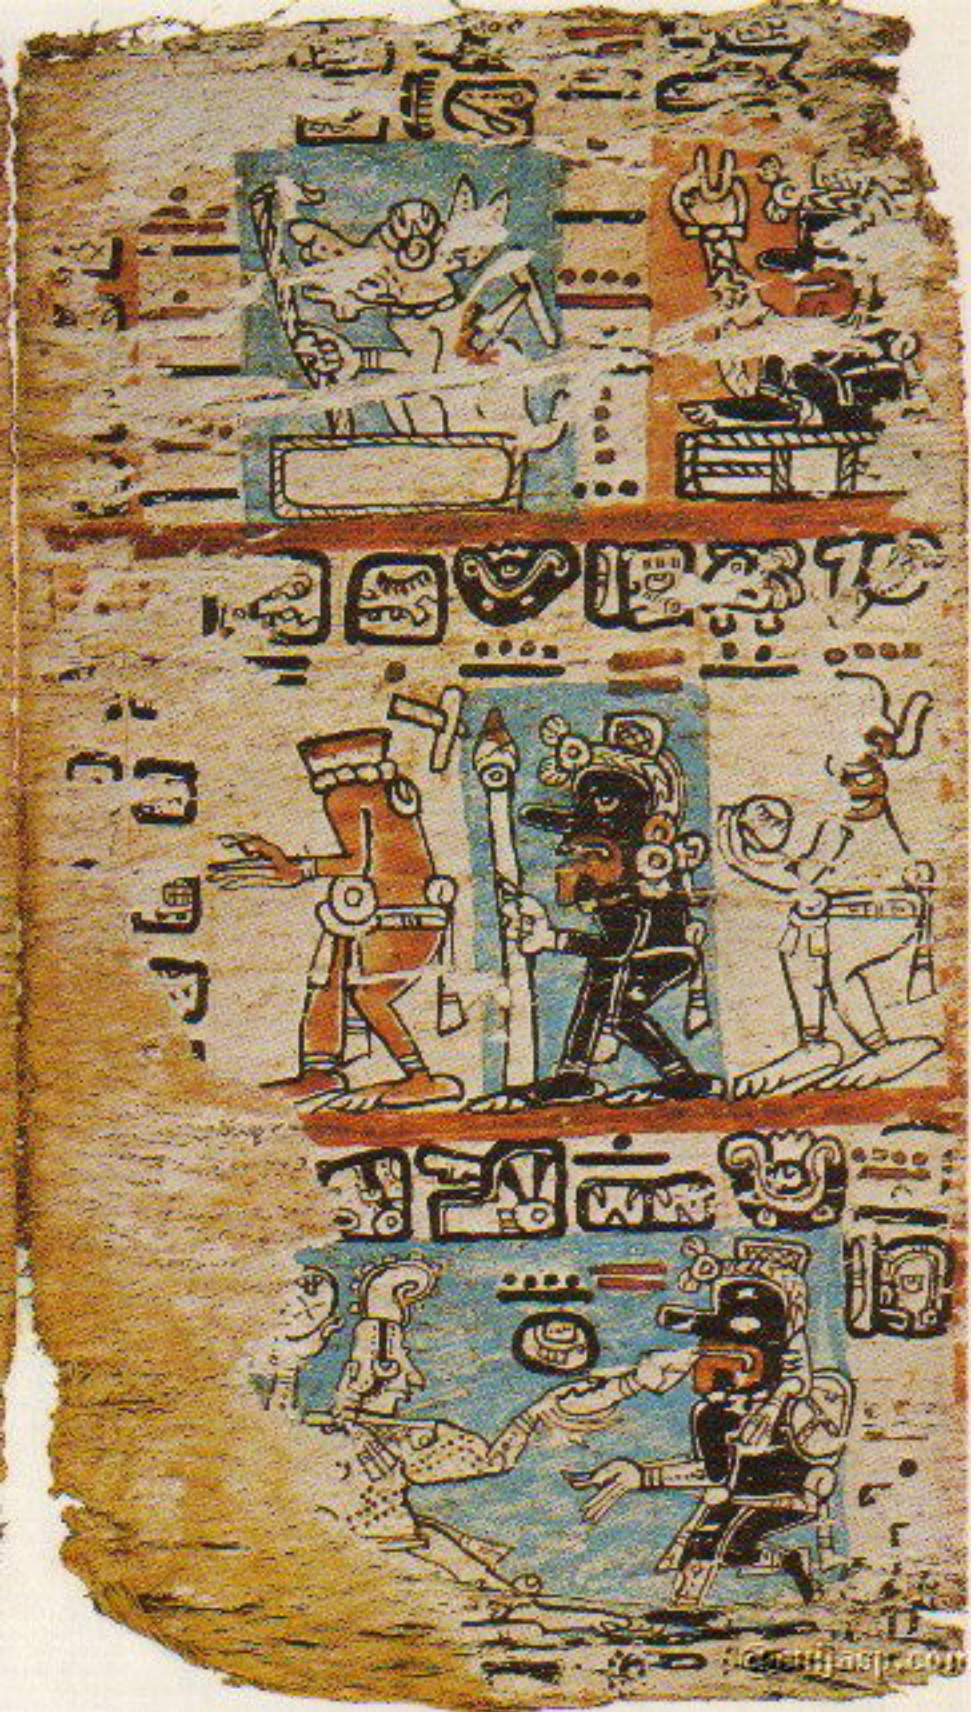

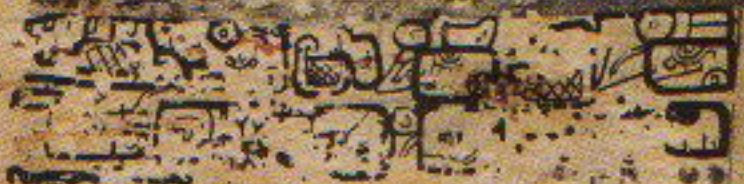

A horizontal band of text consisting of a series of large, stylized glyphs, likely representing a title or a significant section header. The glyphs are arranged in a regular pattern and are colored in a dark, earthy tone.

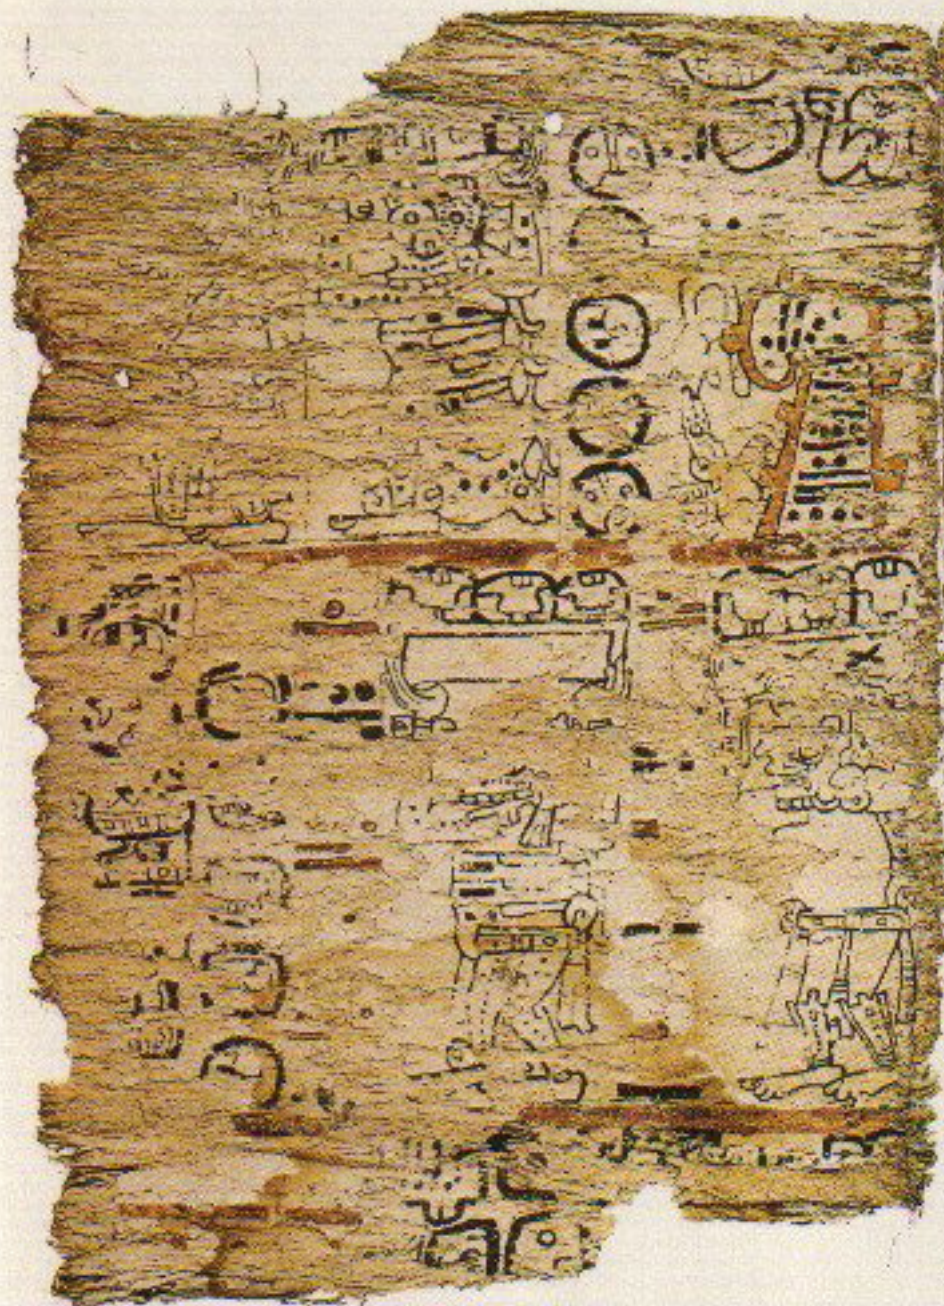

A horizontal band of text consisting of a series of large, stylized glyphs, likely representing a title or a significant section header. The glyphs are arranged in a regular pattern and are colored in a dark, earthy tone.

A vertical column of text consisting of a series of small, square glyphs arranged in a regular pattern. The glyphs are colored in a dark, earthy tone.

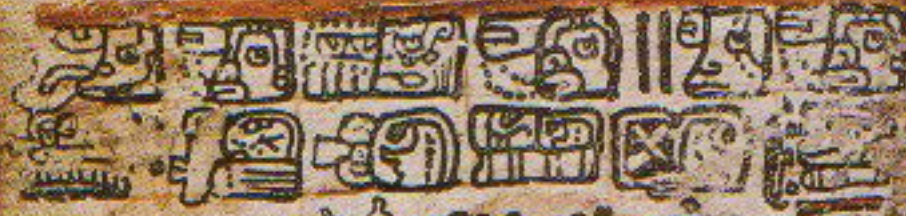

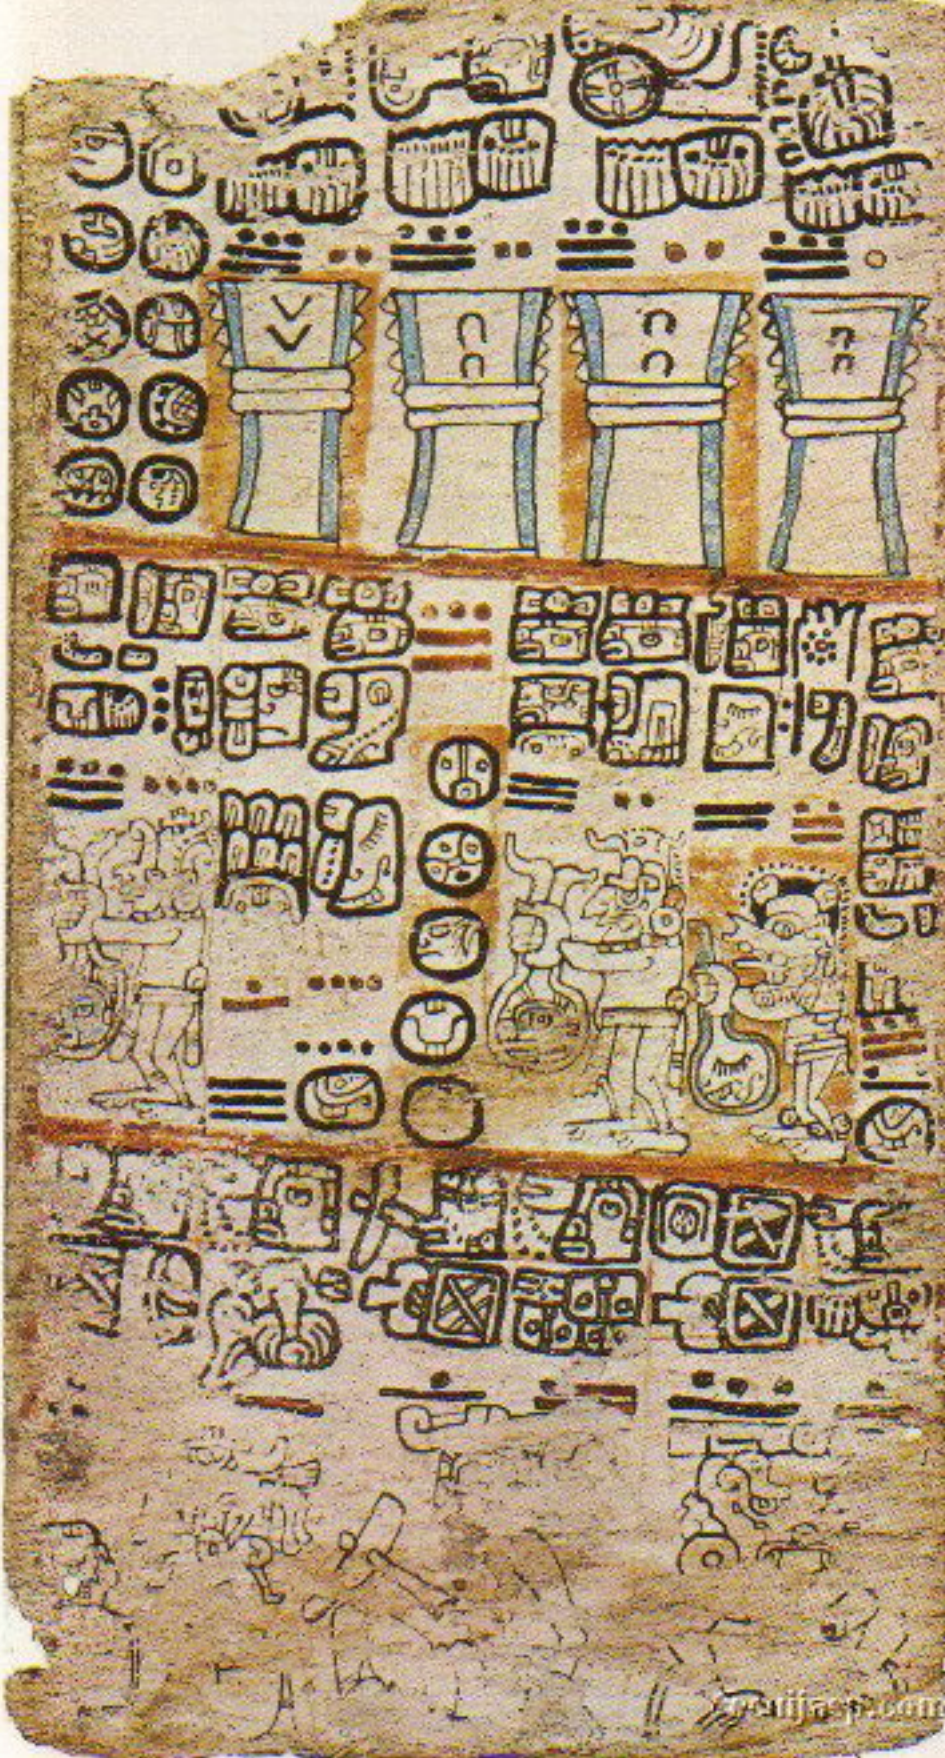

Handwritten text in a script, likely from the Pahlavi or Avestan languages, located at the top of the manuscript page.

Maya glyphs in the upper left quadrant, arranged in two columns.

Maya glyphs in the upper right quadrant, arranged in two columns.

Maya glyphs in the lower left quadrant, arranged in two columns.

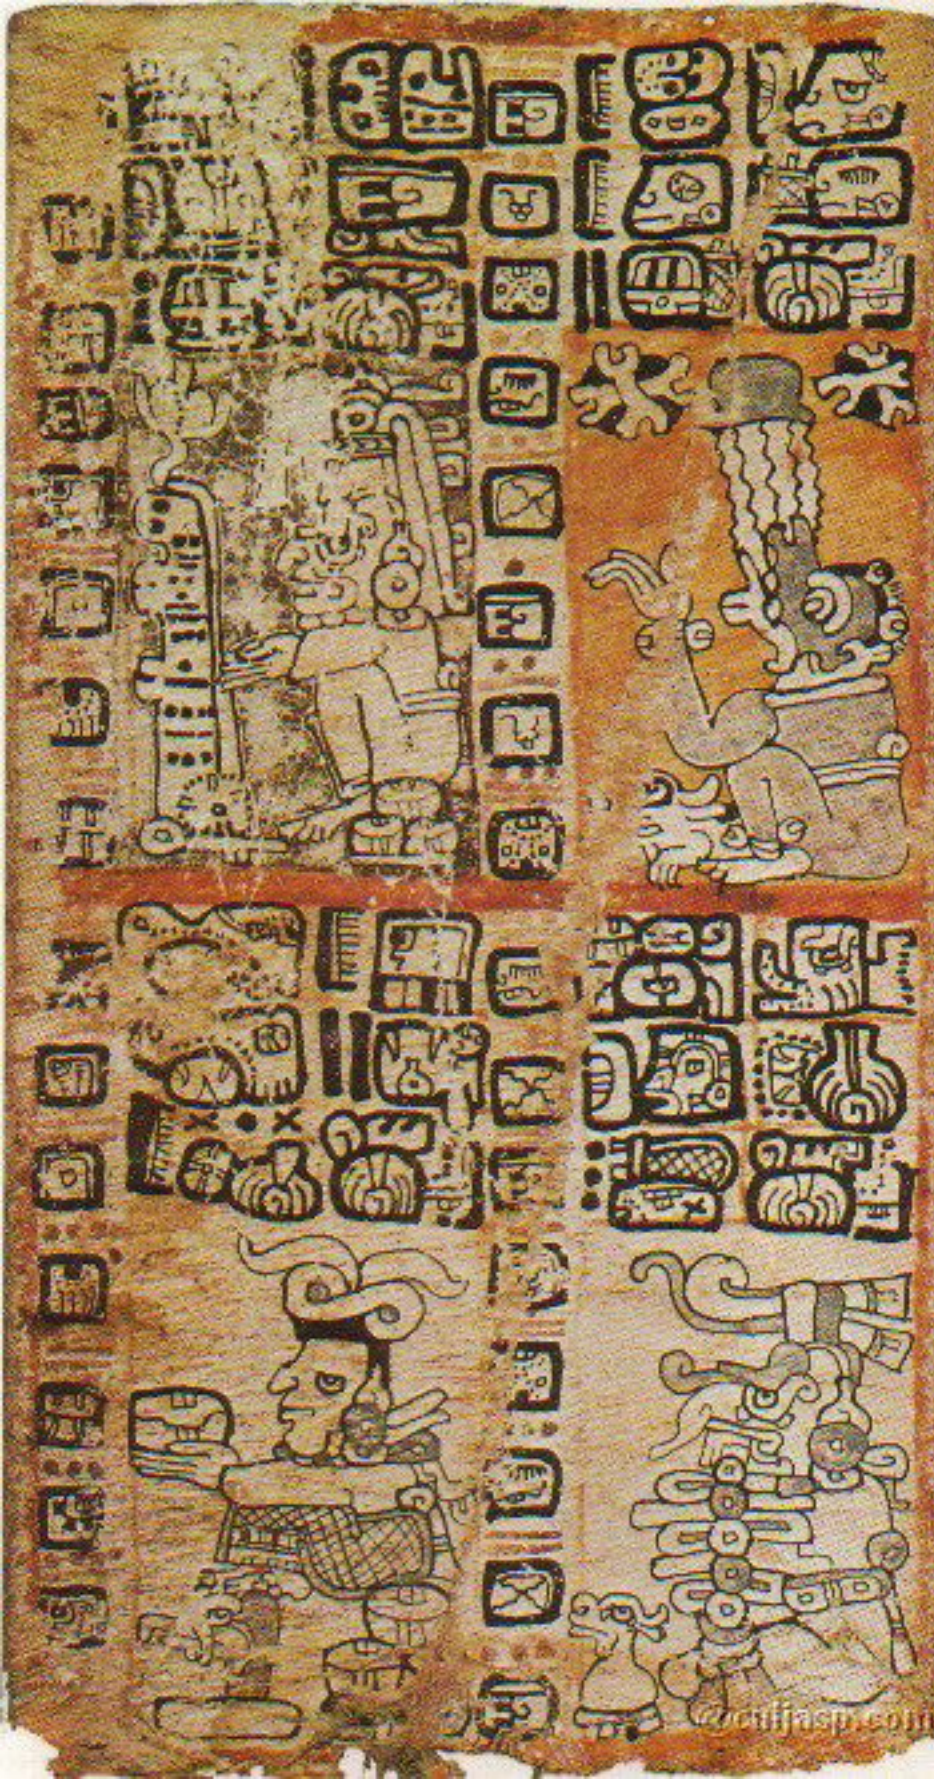

Maya glyphs in the lower right quadrant, arranged in two columns.

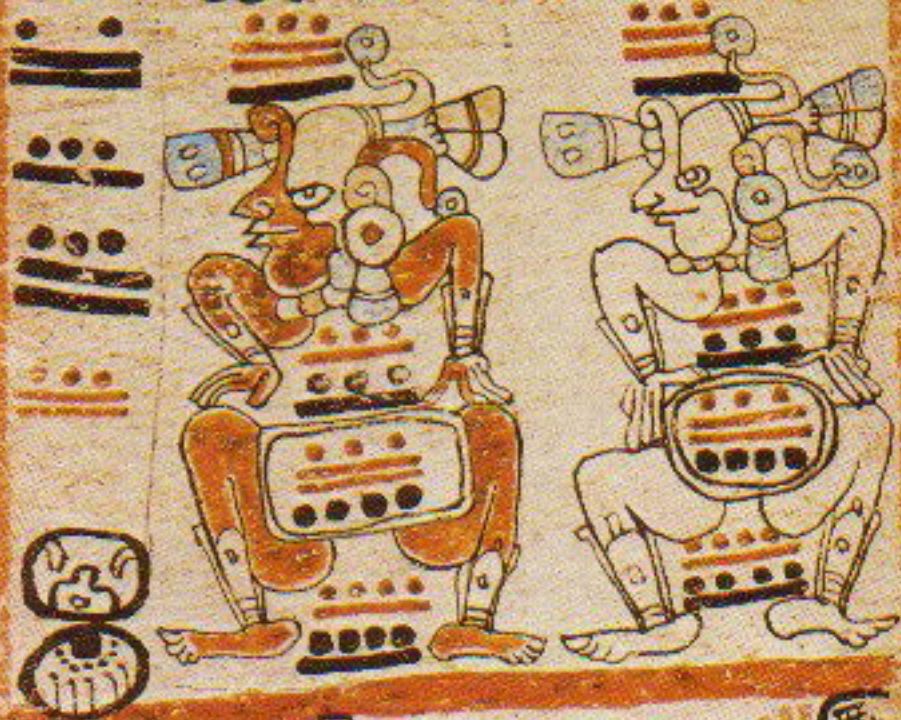

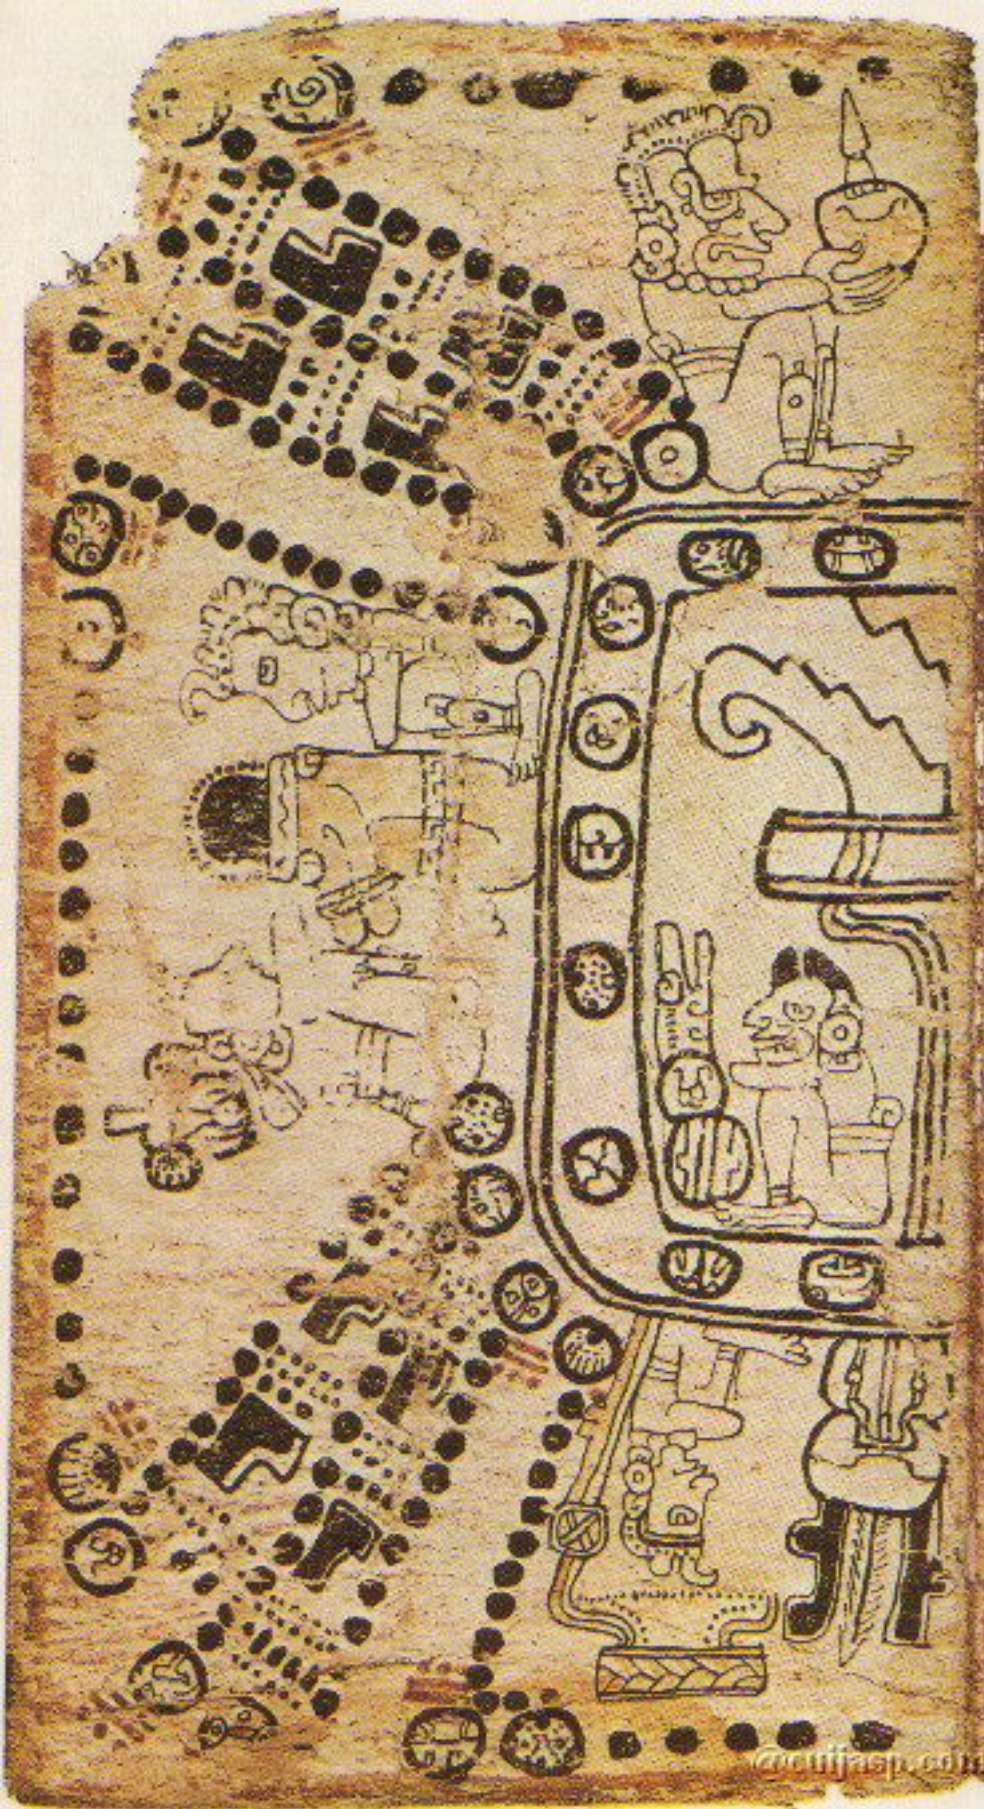

Maya glyphs (top row)

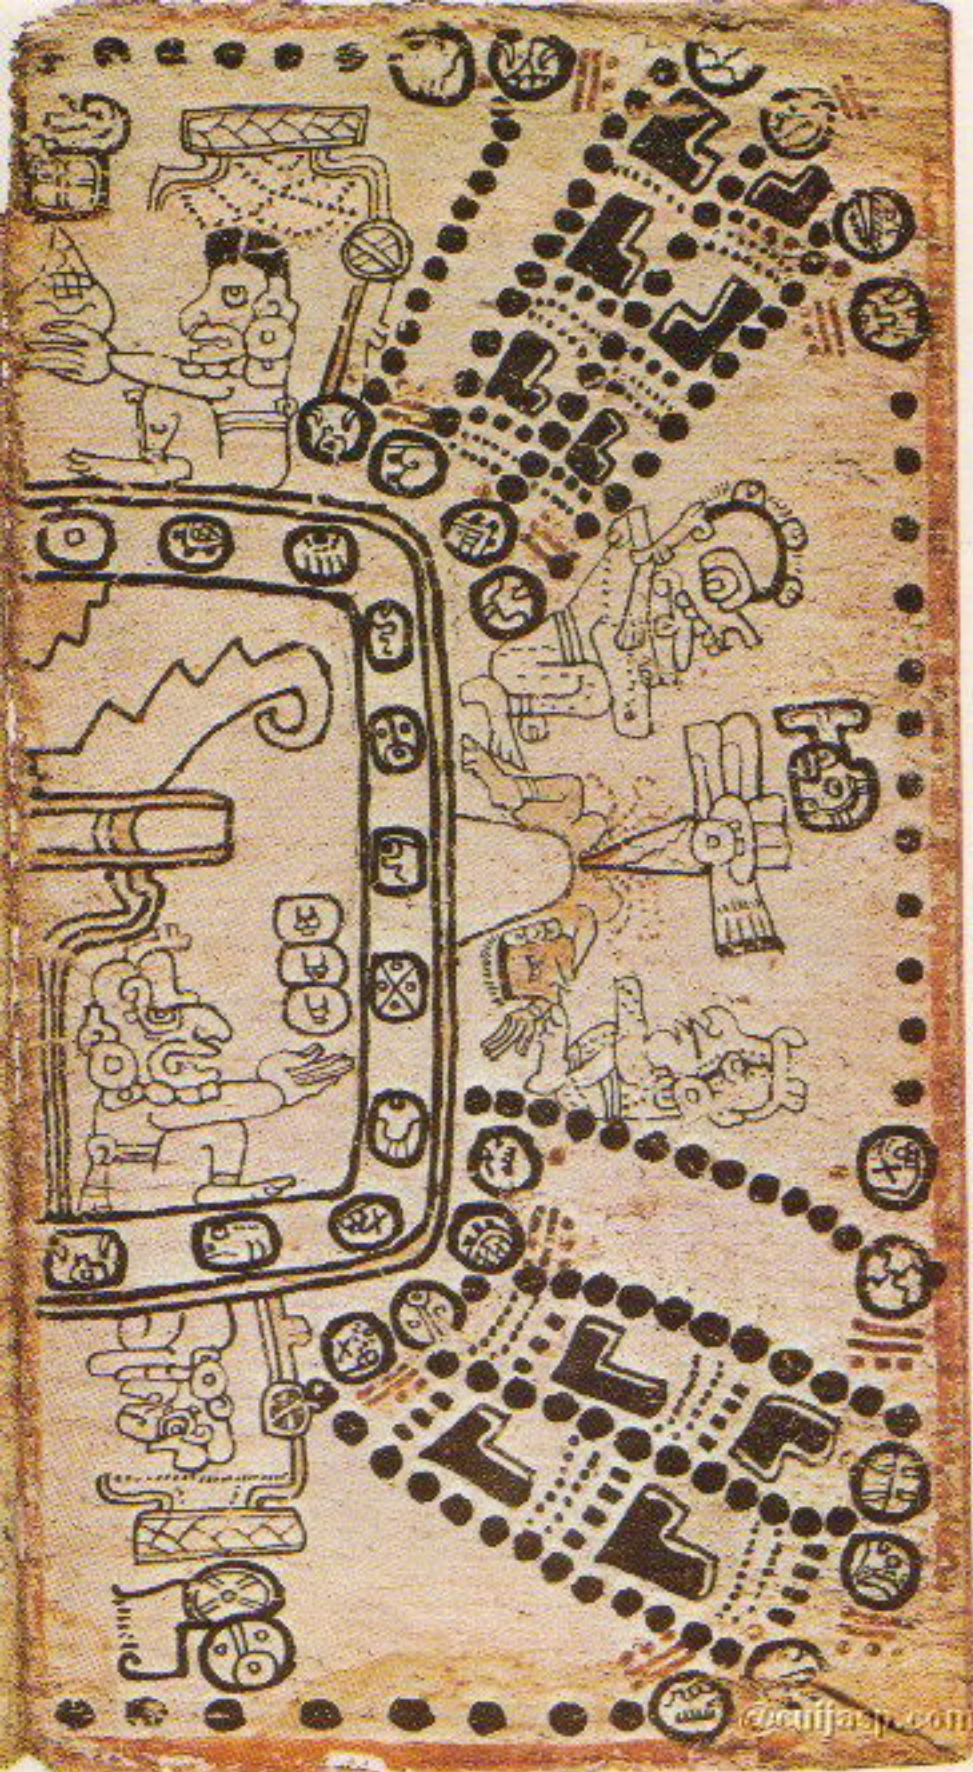

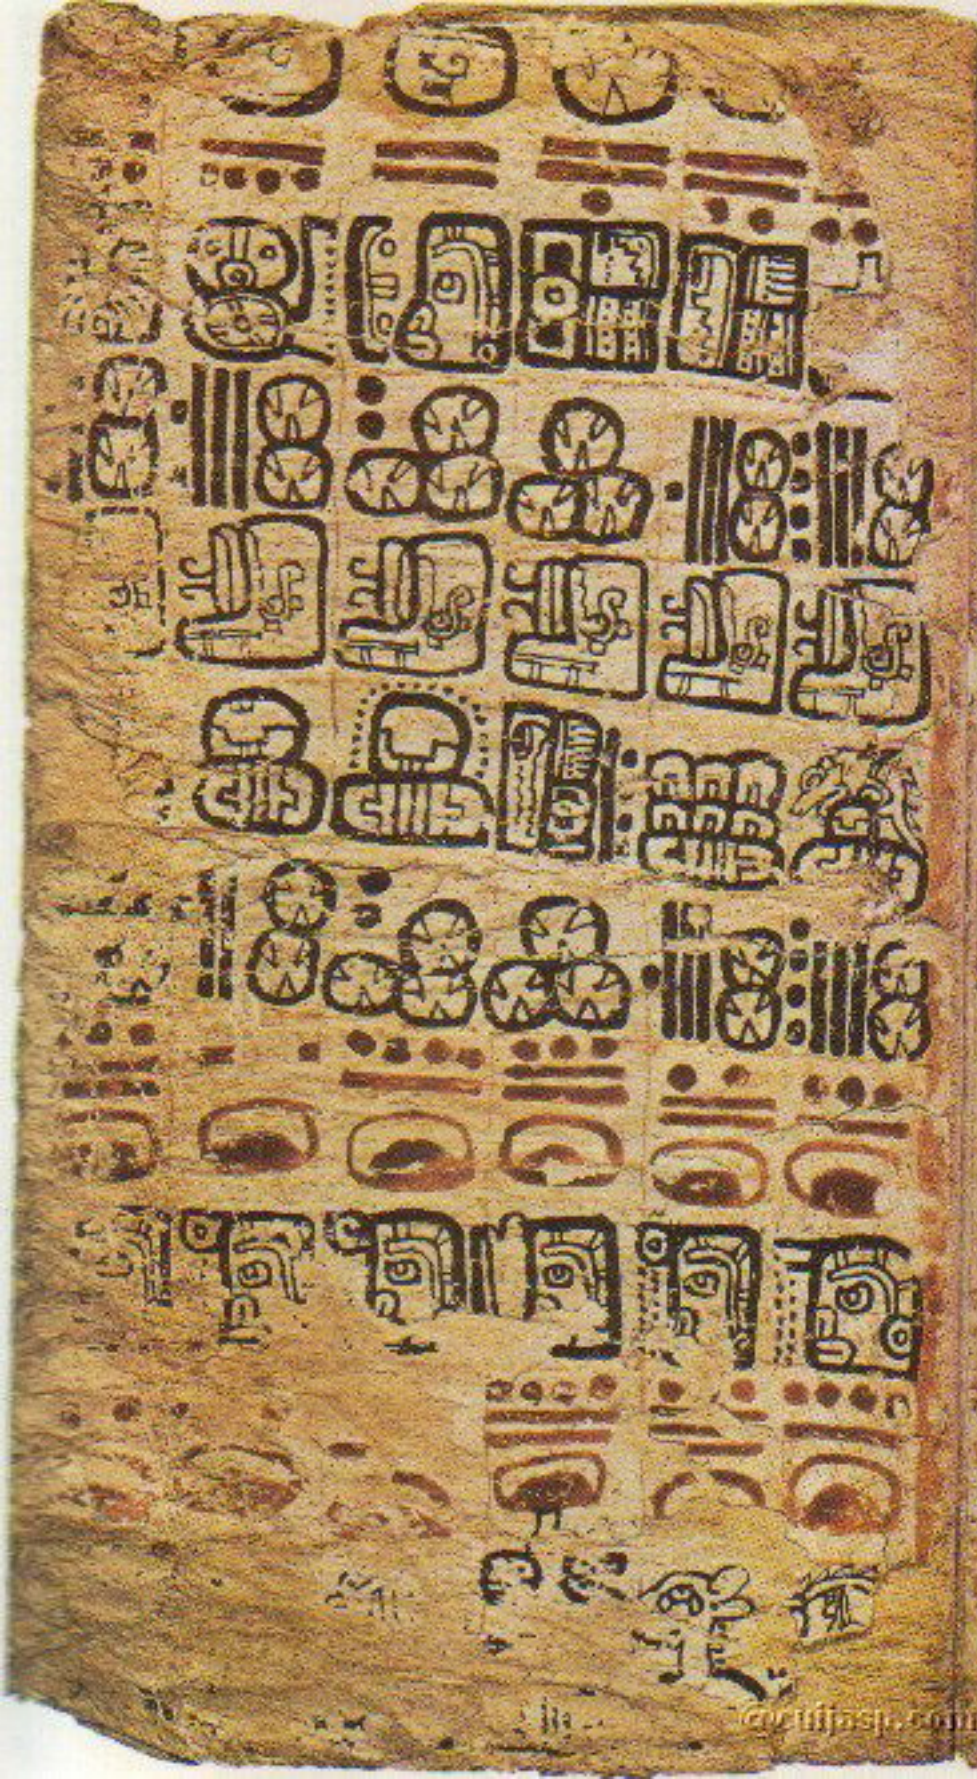

Maya glyphs (middle row)

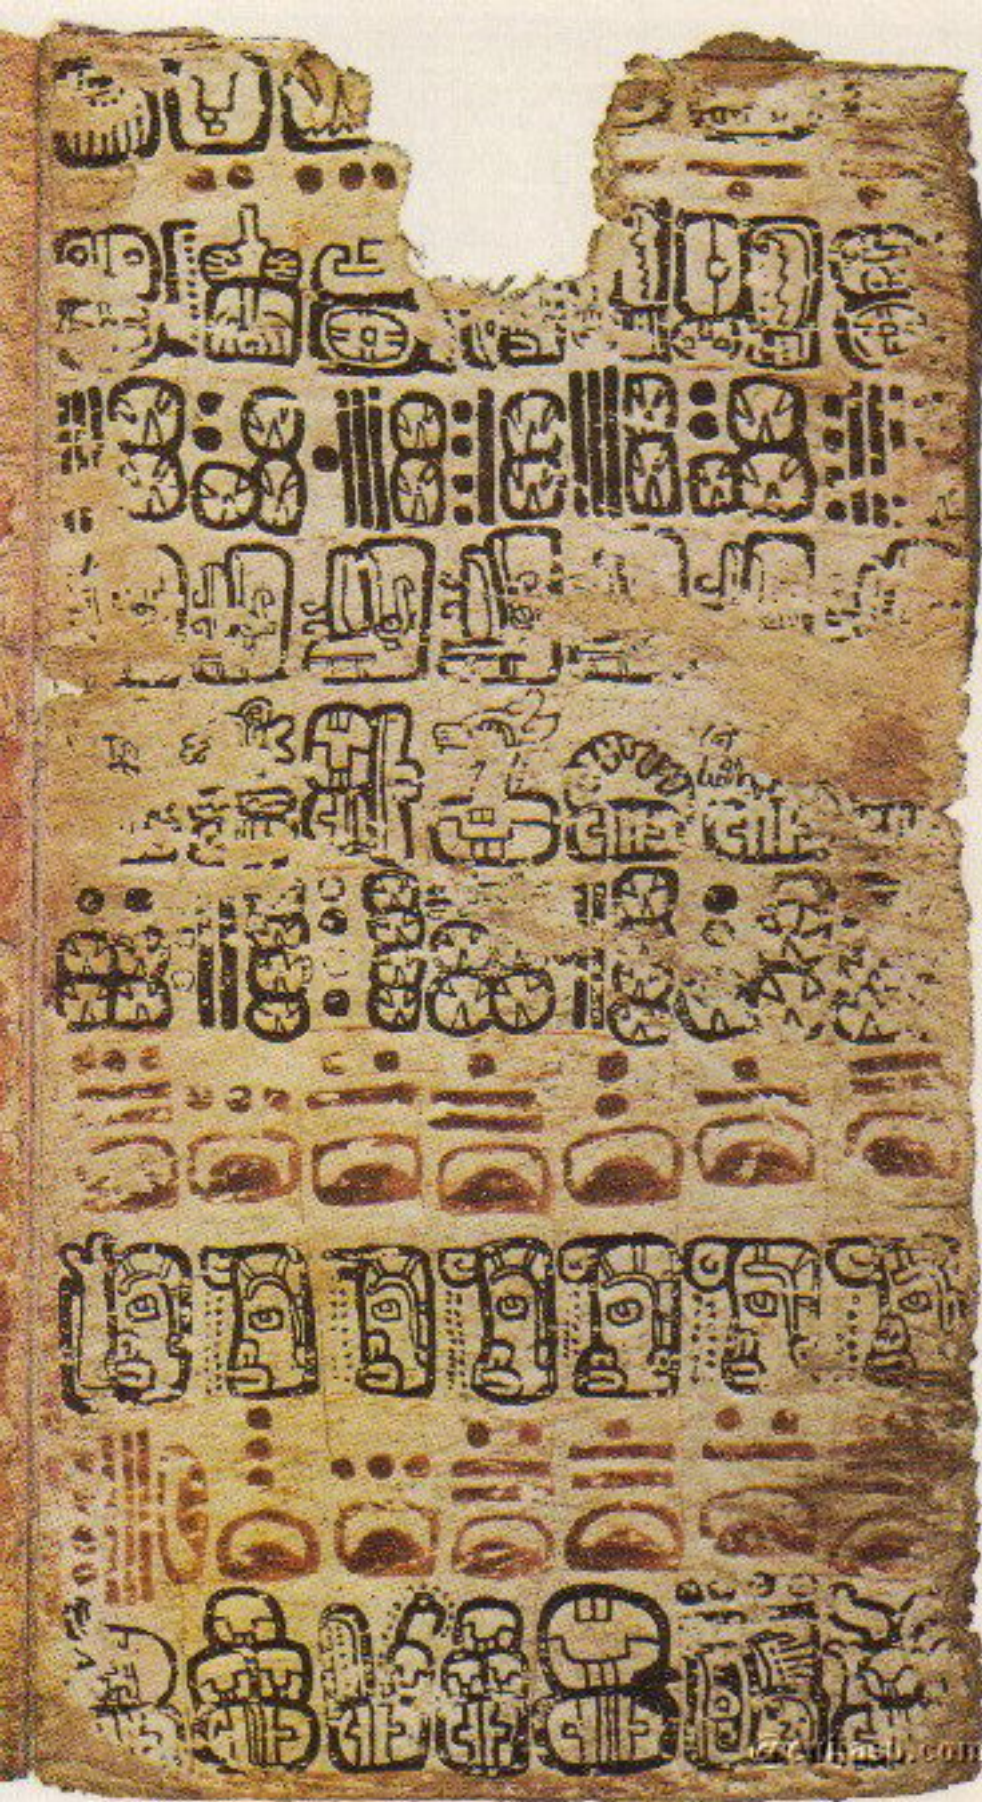

Maya glyphs (bottom row)

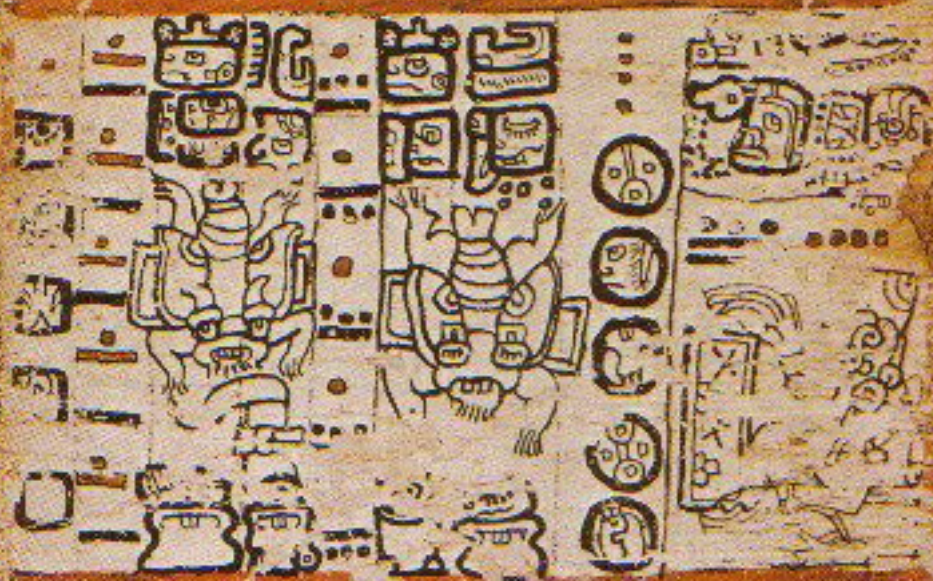

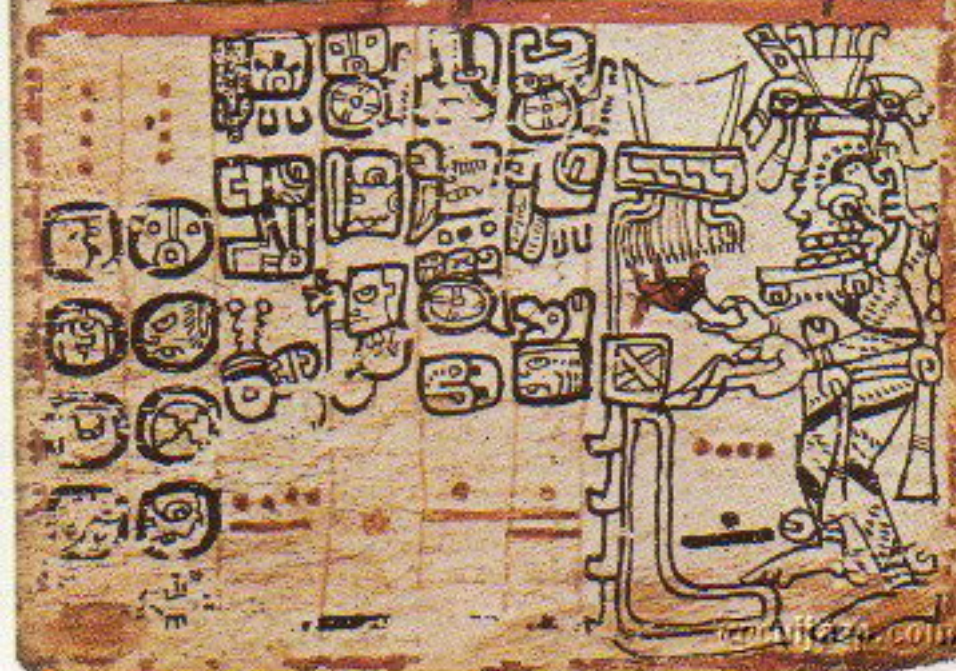

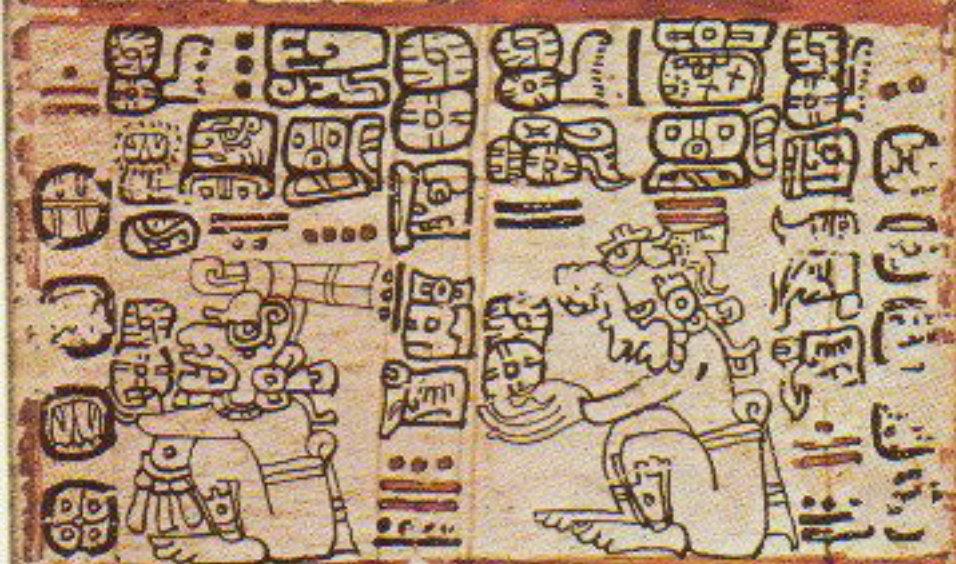

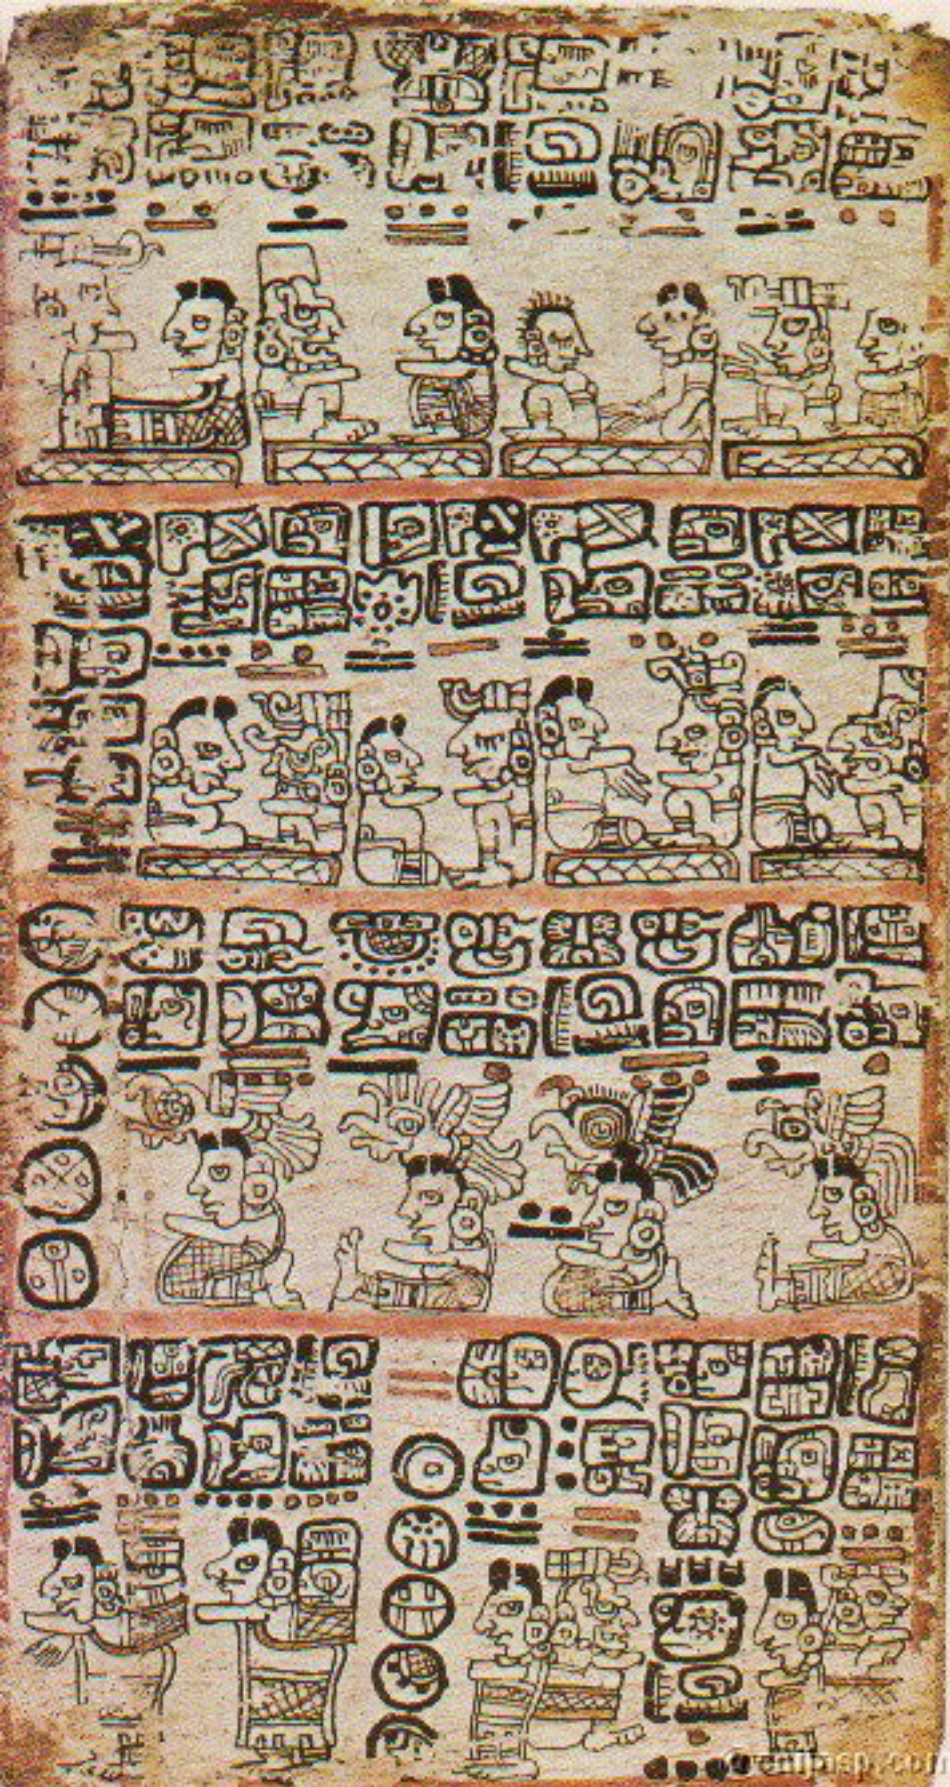

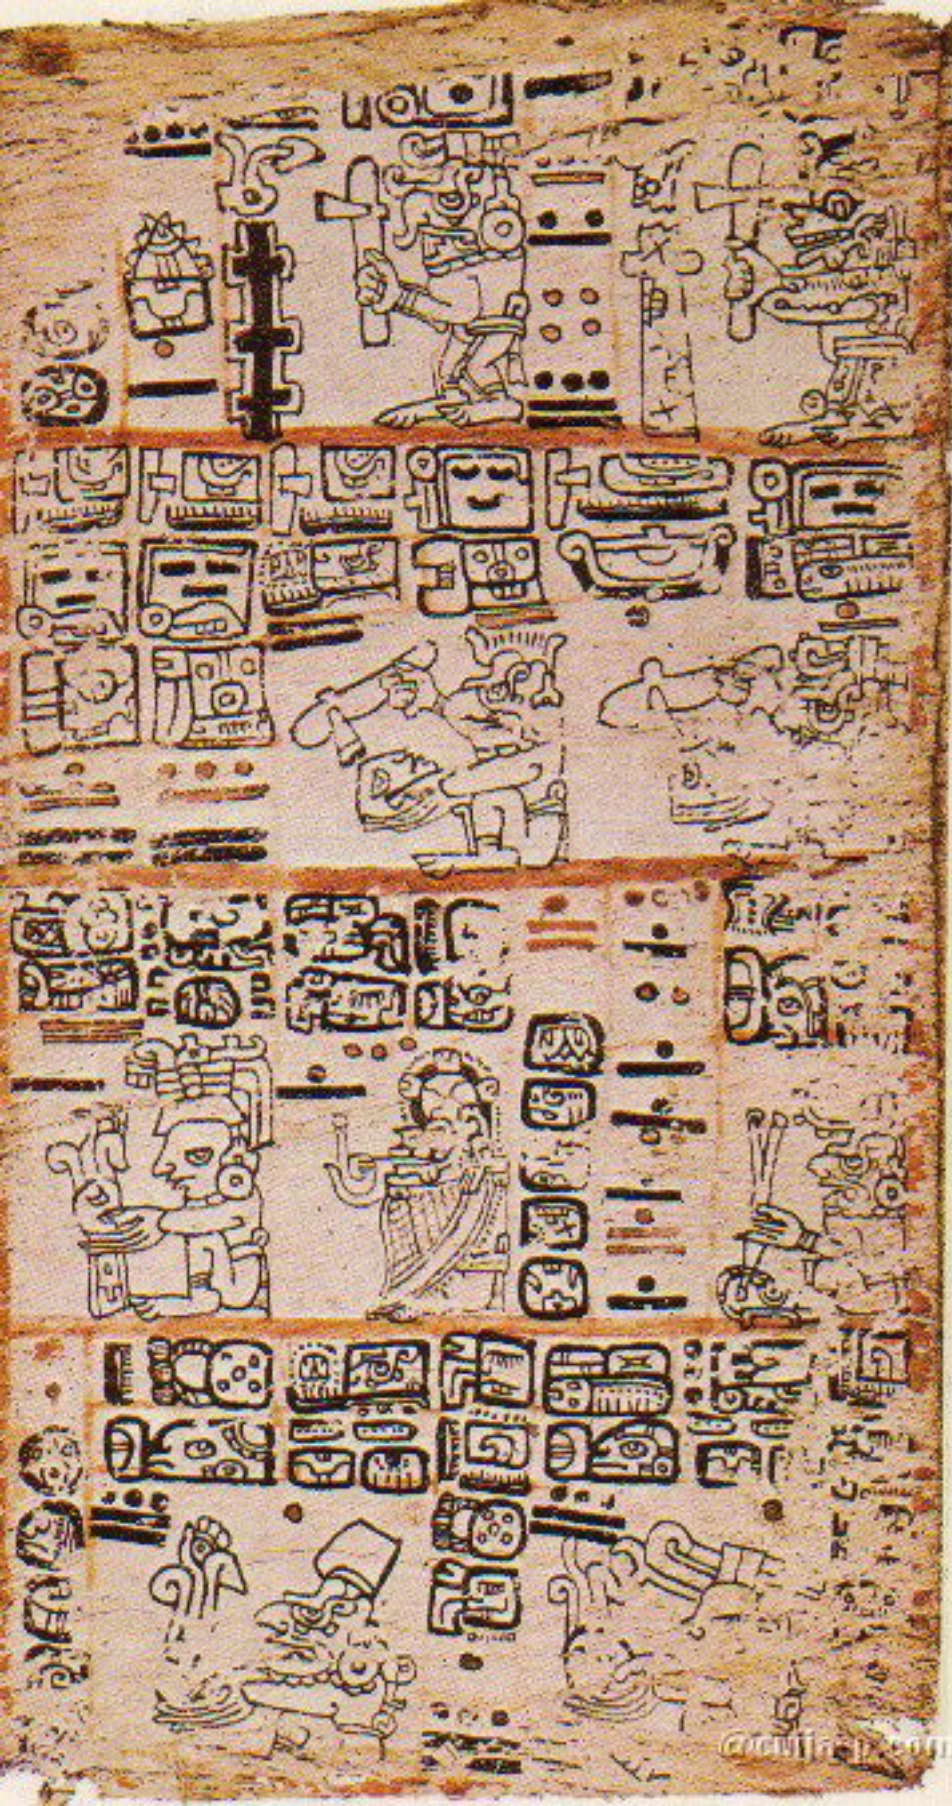

Maya glyphs in the top register of the first column.

Handwritten text in a stylized script, likely a title or header, located at the top of the page.

